Name: THL Lily Morgaine of The East mka Rebecca Molinari

How did you learn about the SCA? I learned about the SCA through a co-worker, Baroness Sorcha of Stonegrave. She talked to me about it for a few months before I finally decided to attend an event.

What about it attracted you? I've always loved all things medieval. I am an avid reader of fantasy and always loved Ren Faire's, so the SCA was just taking that feel and combining historical accuracy.

How long have I been part of the SCA? My first event was in February 2018, a little over 3 years ago. It was the baronial Spring Schola. I met so many welcoming people and saw some many amazing arts. I was hooked.

What is your SCA persona? Lily Morgaine was born in the 8th Century. She is from a small English town called Castlerigg in Keswick, a native Briton kingdom. She is an herbalist, creating her own Herbal with paintings.

What activities do you participate in? I enjoy so many activities. First and foremost I am a scribe, illumination being my focus. I also love embroidery and herbalism, as well as most other artistic projects, such as shield painting and book making. I am a book herald and love helping people create their devices. Research is also something I am passionate about, and I have been writing various papers on scribal topics as well as herbalism. I enjoy service of all kinds. I am currently the Baronial Chronicler and Deputy Seneschal. I also love helping new-comers find their passions and place in the SCA.

What has been your favorite event? Pennsic for sure. It holds a certain magic that I can't explain. There is nothing quite like walking through the shopping area at night with all the lantern lights, people laughing and sounds of music. Sitting around a camp fire with good friends, wearing our medieval clothing, surrounded by pavilions; makes you feel like you are in another time and another world.

What has been your favorite moment? I think that my favorite moments have been when I've been able to present award scrolls that I've made to friends. Seeing the joy on their faces and knowing that I have had a hand in that is priceless. Being able to share my art with others is by far the best feeling.

Also, being marched in to my apprenticing ceremony by the members of Surtr's Brood is something I will never forget. Feeling so supported by my friends and chosen family as I began my SCA journey. Feeling their pride in me and happiness for me, something I never imagined to experience.

What would say are your greatest accomplishments in the SCA thus far? I was honored to be inducted into the Order of the Maunche this past April. I am also the current Baronial A&S Champion. I was inducted into the Order of the Silver Brooch in 2019. I also have the privilege of being apprenticed to Countess Ro Honig von Summerfeldt.

What future goals do you have in the SCA? I have many goals in the SCA. My current focus is continuing with my scribal work and research. I plan to continue with as much service as I can as well.

Ice Cream Social @ WAR

An Dubhaigeainn and its allies were active in all the martial war points. Ateno and Lassar, Baron and Baroness, were so proud of everyone that participated. The Barony had eight heavy fighters (not including the coronet). So thanks to Hilarivs, Catriona, Victorio, David, Titus, Ryan McWhite, Ryan the Lost (Cat), and a sad but exciting good bye to Lucas von Aych who won the All-Pennsic Novice Tourney this year. Fencing had Jean Xavier with David and Vettorio doing double duty. At the Archery targets were Eanring, Darren and Peter of Hawkwoods. After the martial fun we were treated to movies by Marcus and Douglas. That's the first time we know of that movies were played at Pennsic at a walk up theater. At our Pennsic war court, we recognized Eanring and Christine for services rendered at Pennsic and Ryan the Lost for her support of our fighters after her injury got worse and she was unable to fight. Also HouseThree Skulls were recognized for their fighting prowess, with the household receiving the Drakes Spur. Last but not least, Peter of Hawkwoods was recognized for exemplary service as camp master, receiving both our person token and a Silver Feather.

The Fighting of the Thirty-seventh Pennsic War Attention Lords and Ladies, the brave fighters representing our Barony of An Dubhaigeainn have done much for the East in the 37th Pennsic War. Our beloved Barony joined the grand forces of the Wetlands Alliance and was accompanied by the fighters of Three Skulls who had vowed themselves to the Coronet for the war. These fine soldiers of the Wetlands fought under the banner of the Southern Army, and on the field fought most commonly alongside Silver Keep, Black Talon, and House Serpentius. Also hailing from within our borders, Surtr's Brood made good measure of themselves and won much honor, fighting alongside the forces of Ulsterblichen. Though the war-points themselves had been ceded before fighting itself broke out, the fighters of the An Dubhaigeainn and the Wetlands Alliance were still ready and willing to do their duty to the His Majesty Konrad, and East, not to mention let the Midrealm know the blows of their rattan and the charge of their shields. The fighting was fierce from the onset but the stalwart fighters of the Barony held fast, and though the gates of Rome were lost on the first day of the war, at no time did they flee the breach assigned to them and fought hard keeping their honor intact. Our fighters' greatest victory took place at the bridge battle, where the East successfully broke the lines of the Midrealm army in two of the three attempts upon the river, and surrounded their forces amongst a great revelry from the mouths of His Majesty's troops. The war came to an end amidst a most amiable resolution between their majesties Konrad, and Lutr; it was here in that the armies serving both the East and the Mid joined in a brotherly embrace upon the list field. At this most memorable junction, both armies though they had been enemies fought aside one another against the rest of the known world, and emerged triumphant. The war was most notably filled with a good spirit of competition, inspired by which the soldiers and allies of An Dubhaigeainn did try their hardest upon the list field, and did many great deeds in battle for their kingdom. Lucas von Aych wins Novice Tourney We knew something was up when his new baron entered camp carrying Lucas' shield. Lucas, lately moved to the Barony of Ponte Alto from An Dubhaigeainn, did us all proud when he took top honors at the Novice Tournament. Along with getting to wear the victor's belt for the coming year, Lucas also won some nifty prizes - a carved drinking horn and new gauntlets, among other goodies. Alas, your reporter neglected to get the names of the SCA artisans who donated their work as prizes. Trust me, they were drool worthy.

Who's that man in the red cape? It's our very own Superman, Baron Ateno! Never suspecting as Lady Gianetta and Lady Giovanna sewed away at the cloak right under his nose, His Excellency was as surprised as we were proud when King Konrad and Queen Brenwen called him into East Kingdom Court to bestow the well-earned honors on being inducted into the Order of the Pelican.

Thanks to the people who worked so hard to make t Baronial camp a fun, comfortable and welcoming place. Even before we hit the first stake into the ground, Peter of Hawkwoods was working behind the scenes to make sure we had luxurious camp services including filtered water, a huge camp shower and changing room, and a well-equipped camp kitchen, among other amenities. He and Sorcha got to Pennsic early and left late to make sure all the baronial gear was functional and safe. Lots of hands make light work (ok, lighter work) and big thank yous are owed to everyone who helped with set up and break down. You know who you are and we love you! We had a new treat this year when Marc Redgate and his son, Doug, installed a solar powered DVD player for our very own Medieval Movie Nights. And thanks to all who make the Ice Cream Social such a wonderful part of Pennsic. The strength of a Barony is in its people and we have a heck of a populace. Vivat to all the helping hands and creative minds!
