From the Coronet

Greetings from Your Coronet!

Although the season of Thanksgiving is behind us, there are so many things we are thankful for. One of those things is how our Barony pulls together to make incredible things happen. For instance, when the Mastic Library reached out to us with about two weeks' notice for their rescheduled demo, we put out an incredible display and met some really cool new people. Titus had barely even been voted in as our new chatelaine, but he immediately leapt into action, and helped run this very last minute demo. Huge thanks to Harry the Squid for bringing his armor display and entertaining countless kids with it, Rosalie and Elora for showing your weaving skills, Suzanne for teaching wire weaving, Laurie Anne for sharing her beautiful silk painting, Johanne for helping the youths with White Vine painting, Purple for her flawless calligraphy, Osana for painting, Jean Xavier for bringing and running the trebuchet, and Alveric for documenting the entire demo. Also thanks to Demetrio, Rhiannon and Beomund who spent the day helping out wherever needed, talking to new people, and helping with set up and breakdown. It was a great day to be a duck!

Our ducks came out in force for the 100 Minutes War in Rusted Woodlands. Our armored rattan fighters teamed up with the Golden Lance and fought with incredible honor and skill in the woods. Our Fencers also joined the fray and mightily stood their ground in the face of the enemy. The highlight of the day though definitely came early in the event when Enrique de Acosta was inducted into the Order of the Silver Tyger. Vivat Enrique! We would also like to congratulate Violet Hughes and Demetrio Antelini Da Lucca. During the event, Violet took Demetrio to be her first protege. We are so excited to see the great things you both will accomplish and wish you good fortune as you travel this path together.

As we usher in the holiday season, mark your calendars for these upcoming events. The 27th Annual Dickens Festival will be held in Port Jefferson Village on December first and second. Thanks to the organizational skills of Elisaid, artisans from our fine feathered Barony will once again be demonstrating their skills in the artisan tent on both days. Come by and say hi and enjoy the festivities!

TO BE CONTINUED

From the Coronet

Greetings from Your Coronet!

It wouldn't be the holiday season without our annual picture with the Flanders Duck. Please join us for our Baronial photo on Sunday, December 17, 2023. We will meet between 5:30 and 5:45 to take our family photo in front of the duck. Hopefully we will be able to get all of our ducks in a row for the occasion.

Although we have much to find joy in, it is also a time of sorrow. Our barony mourns the loss of one of our own. Baron Sean DeLondres was truly one of a kind. He always had an encouraging word for everyone, and a tasty libation to fill every mug. Baron Sean was a grand master in the brewers guild, and spent countless hours teaching and encouraging new and upcoming guild members. Sean held offices both in An Dubhaigainn and Ostgardr, working for years on behalf of both groups. But what we will all miss most is his presence. Baron Sean had a kind, friendly demeanor that was infectious. He was always welcoming to all, new and old members of the barony alike. He was one of the gentles who brought joy and magic to our game, and he will be greatly missed.

Yours in Service to the Dream!

Baroness Fiona the Volatile
